Graph footnote: Total Return (TR), includes the reinvestment of dividends.

Disclosures: Performance of the separate accounts can differ substantially from the performance of Blue Point's model portfolio due to timing of entry, whether account is taxable or non-taxable, and the timing of withdrawals. Returns include accrued income since 9/30/14. Past performance does not guarantee future results. The standard investment adviser fee schedule is 1.0% on the first $3 million, 0.85% on the next $7 million, 0.75% thereafter. There is no stated account minimum, but the relationship needs to be mutually beneficial. The investment adviser fees are negotiable and may be waived. Market Outlook

➤ Policy Uncertainties – Following President Trump's inauguration, dramatic policy changes are expected that will unnerve the markets due to the speed of the changes and the breath of the policy changes. The expectation is that it will be very much like a roller coaster going from 0 to 60. There is a strong possibility that abrupt sell offs in potentially impacted companies will create investment opportunities.

➤ Rationalized Energy Policy – The U.S. needs to increase baseload power production to meet the increasing power consumption needs of electric vehicles, electronic devices, and AI data centers. Wind and solar can only produce intermittent energy. Power grids require the stable, cleaner energy that natural gas can offer.

➤ Higher Borrowing Costs – A higher 10-year Treasury rate is indicative of higher borrowing costs for governments, businesses, and home buyers. Dramatically higher interest expenses are limiting investment opportunities.

➤ Deregulation and Efficiency – A hallmark of American capitalism is creative destruction. We invent new ways to do things better. Productivity gains from this disruptive improvement elevates living standards and creates new opportunities. Government regulations and agencies have been largely exempted from efficiency reviews. Once created they just exist and fail to adapt to changes in technology. The potential to improve U.S. GDP growth through regulation reduction is real.

A Global Perspective

Blue Point Investment Management offers equity-oriented growth with a global perspective. The investment discipline seeks Growth at a Reasonable Price. Each client account is managed separately.

The Growth At a Reasonable Price (GARP) investment strategy is a blend of active growth and value investing. As a rule, value investors focus on the price of the security, the numerator of the P/E ratio, while growth investors focus on earnings offered by the security, the denominator of the P/E ratio. GARP represents a blended approach and is often referred to as a market-oriented investment strategy.

Blue Point identifies sustainable, long-term trends through macro-economic research. From there, Blue Point uses fundamental research to identify and invest in companies that stand to benefit from favorable trends. Investments are geared towards long-term value creation while preserving capital.

Blue Point seeks equity-oriented growth while actively managing the downside risk. Under normal circumstances, Blue Point invests at least 60% of its net assets in domestic U.S. securities. This global approach offers significant investment opportunities here and abroad. In times of market crisis, adjustments to portfolio holdings will be made that best serve the preservation of capital while seizing investment opportunities. Cash is used as an asset class in portfolio construction.

Each separately managed account stays in the client's name providing complete transparency. Blue Point receives no commission or compensation that would create a conflict of interest. To further ensure the alignment of interests, Blue Point's portfolio manager invests in the same Blue Point model portfolio as clients.
